Not illustrated. 1902 Excerpt: .on a subject which has received but little attention and which is of vital Import-ance; after giving most interesting In-formation and valuable tables, the au-thor concludes as follows; All the presumption is in favor of the married as against the single. The family is an added incentive for him to keep up his insurance. The conservatism of the family man, together with the higher rates of advancing years, combine to lead him to persist. The single man, on the other hand, having only him-self to care for, either takes out an en-dowment policy for his own benefit, or he is very liable to allow bis policy to lapse when stress of circumstances tempts him. From the regulation made by the different companies, It will be seen that the line is drawn, not at marriage per Be, but at some of the conditions which accompany it. Only...

Reviews

This publication is amazing. It is definitely basic but shocks in the fifty percent of your publication. You wont feel monotony at anytime of your own time (that's what catalogues are for concerning if you question me).

-- Prof. Kirk Cruickshank DDS

This kind of book is every little thing and taught me to looking ahead of time and a lot more. I am quite late in start reading this one, but better then never. I found out this book from my dad and i encouraged this pdf to find out.
